Amex moves into the AI workday

10 business tools inside Perplexity Computer

Amex and Perplexity launched the tools for eligible U.S. Business Card Members with paid Enterprise subscriptions.

Cash-flow insights, reconciliation and vendor comparisons, using connected card data.

A useful expansion of the card relationship into everyday business decisions.

Source: Perplexity and American Express

Mastercard connects smarter growth with greater confidence

B2B analytics

AI-powered insights help banks identify suppliers likely to accept cards.

Agent Pay

Latest U.S. testing helps issuers recognize AI-initiated purchases.

Two opportunities: more relevant business-client conversations and greater confidence as shopping evolves.

Sources: Mastercard B2B analytics Agent Pay testing

Digital money meets community banking

Fiserv’s digital asset platform is live, with North Dakota’s Roughrider Coin as its first use case.

An example of banks and credit unions exploring digital settlement through familiar banking workflows.

Payments are becoming part of how businesses decide, customers shop and institutions move money.

Which opportunity would you put first on your team’s agenda?

Source: Fiserv digital asset platform